Over the past 15 years, Surgical Notes has separated themselves from the rest of the medical transcription market by focusing on the pain points of ambulatory surgery centers and developing solutions that bring automation to the business office. Not only do we provide the highest quality transcriptions and most reliable turnaround time, but we also offer our surgery centers SNChart, an easy-to-use web-based transcription management tool. SNChart is our proprietary technology that automates much of a surgery center's manual day-to-day transcription operations. Receive, review, edit, sign, and archive your reports, all in one easy-to-use platform. A true industry innovator, we were one of the first companies to launch an iPad/iPhone app and continue to be one of the only companies to offer complete data integrity from start to finish by offering full integration with practice management systems.
